Locals who won't pay their bills blamed for ambulance plight

Local residents who won't pay their bills were blamed this week for the financial woes of the Canyon Ambulance Service.

Owner Richard Bertrand, who has operated the service since last summer, said his collections for ambulance pick-ups are running far below his early estimates.

"I had thought we'd have an 80 per cent collection rate," Bertrand said. "But we're not even making a 60 per cent rate — it's more like 50 to 55 per cent."

Bertrand has asked local governmental entities, which agreed last summer to pay $800 per month subsidies to the operation of the ambulance service, to up that figure to $1000 and to advance him other funds to pay outstanding debts.

While Canyon city commissioners have already okayed the increased subsidy and advance payment, Randall County commissioners decided Monday to delay action on the proposal and board members of the South Randall County hospital district followed suit Monday night.

Bertrand said the delays by the county commissioners and hospital board members will not jeopardize the operations of the ambulance service.

"Right now we're breaking even," he said. "We're not losing any money and we're not making any money."

Bertrand indicated the new influx of local governmental money is needed to update ambulance equipment to meet federal standards, rather than for daily operations.

While the delays in increasing subsidies may not create an immediate hardship on the operations of the service, he said, the lack of funds for new equipment will hurt local residents who need the ambulance service.

"If Randall County is going to sit back and hold the ball all they're doing is costing the people more time and money," he said.

Bertrand said he plans to use the new subsidy money to purchase incubator and other infant-care equipment for his ambulances, for new radio equipment and for other gear to meet federal requirements.

Bertrand admitted he has acquired large outstanding debts in the operation of the ambulance service.

"We came in and spent a large amount of money and there was not enough to update equipment and pay for the operation," he said.

Due to the low collection rate, it became impossible to meet the debt payments and to continue operations on a 24-hour basis without increased subsidies, he said.

Bertrand hopes the increased subsidy payments from the city, county and hospital district may eventually be cut back with an increase in the number of daily calls made by the ambulance service and an increase in the collection rate.

In the meantime, he feels the increased subsidy payments should be all he needs to continue operations.

"I think we'll be in good shape," he said. "I don't foresee any big expenses coming up in the next year really."

Randall County commissioners are apparently not so sure of the future stability of the local service.

Commissioners John Fulgenzi and Dee Griffin were instructed by commissioners Monday to contact operators of Metropolitan Ambulance Service of Amarillo about the possibility of operating an ambulance in Canyon.

Commission Paul Lindsey apparently disagreed with the decision because he declined to work with Fulgenzi and Griffin on the alternate proposal. Lindsey had been involved in working out the increased subsidy proposal for Bertrand's operation.

Fulgenzi and Griffin are to report back on their meeting at the Nov. 3 session of commissioners court.

Hospital board members voted Monday night to go along with the increased subsidy proposal, only if the county commissioners agree to the plan.

"We're concerned as to why the county didn't go ahead and do it," Administrator Ray Grimes reported following the meeting. "We'll give the county time to check with Metropolitan and if it's something better, fine."

Umbarger water okayed, but town must help pay

The federal Farmers Home Administration has indicated it will approve a grant and loan for a new water system for Umbarger if citizens there still desire to participate in the project.

Louie Raef, who for four years has spearheaded the drive to construct a central well and pipeline water system for the community, said Wednesday a community meeting will be held tonight to determine how many residents will be willing to pay monthly rates for repayment of the loan.

The meeting is set for 8 p.m. at the school gym.

Raef said the meeting will determine whether the FmHA will, in fact, extend the grant and loan — amounting together to nearly a half million dollars — to the small farming center in West Randall County.

Tentative figures prepared several years ago indicated about 50 families would participate in the system and would, therefore, participate in repayment of the loan. At that time, it appeared the monthly cost per family would be under $10.

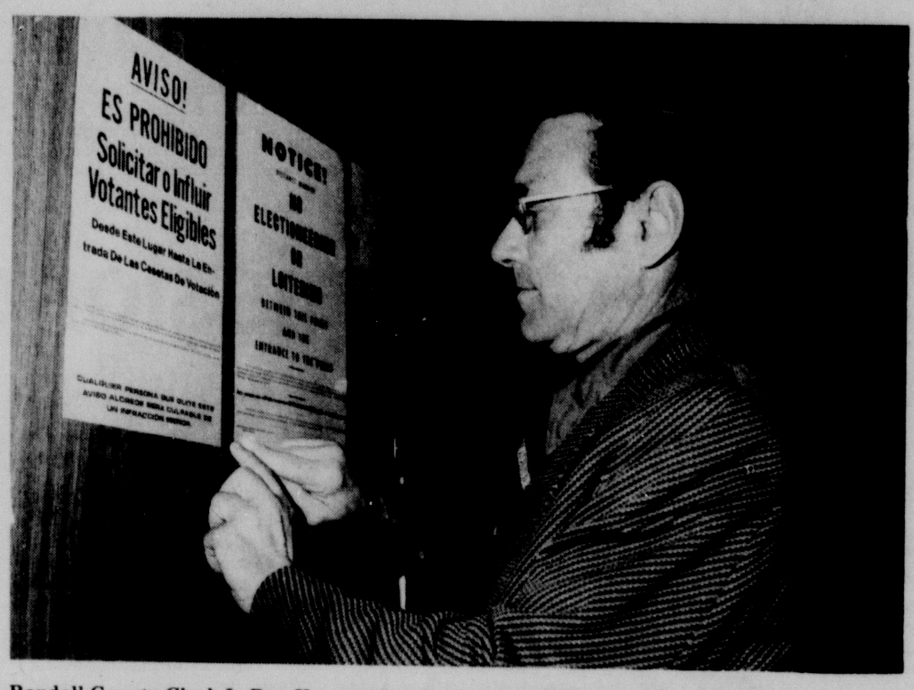
But, Raef said some families originally indicating a desire to participate in the system have since moved away from Umbarger. Others, he fears, may be hesitant to pick up the tab for the loan.

"We need to know if we'll have enough subscribers," Raef said.

A government report issued at the turn of the decade indicated the Umbarger community faced at that time a critical shortage of good drinking water.

Raef has said many wells in the town have become polluted by bore-hole type septic tanks and others have run dry.

The FmHA grant and loan would finance construction of a central community well and pipelines to each subscriber.



Randall County Clerk LeRoy Hutton placed signs in English and Spanish in the hallway of the county courthouse this week to announce the opening of absentee balloting for the Nov. 4 special election on the eight proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution. New law requirements mandate that Hutton not only distribute election materials in both languages, but that he provide interpreters at the polls on election day to aid Spanish-speaking voters.

No word on prices for coffee

While some economists are predicting it will cost more to wake up in the morning in the next three to nine months, local grocers haven't gotten the word yet.

Coffee prices are expected to jump by as much as 25 to 75 cents per pound during the next three to nine months, predict economists, due to a July freeze in the top coffee producing states of Brazil.

Those price hikes would be on top of a 20-cent per pound hike put into effect in local groceries two months ago.

But, Benny Cooper of Cooper's Thriftway and Sherman McCarter of Ideal Food Store here said Tuesday they haven't heard from their suppliers of anticipated price increases.

Regents to consider safety officer

WT asks useable fire hydrants

West Texas State University officials will ask regents next week to approve two items aimed at upgrading campus fire-fighting facilities and aiding administrators in fire and safety procedures.

Regents will be asked Monday to authorize the administration to interview architects or engineering firms for the first phase of a complete utility tunnel system and replacement of utility lines on campus.

Hermas Miller, financial vice president, said Tuesday the university intends to include in the project the laying of unmetered water lines on campus to provide adequate water for fire hydrants.

The state legislature allocated $320,000 to WTSU this year for the first phase of the tunnel system.

Local fire officials criticized the campus fire-safety situation last spring, noting that current fire hydrants — white and pink plugs spaced throughout the campus — either do not work or have too little water and too little pressure to provide adequate water for fires.

The campus has been the scene of several fires in recent years, the most recent being the burning of the basement area of the old administration building. To fight that fire, local volunteer firemen were forced to run water lines from a hydrant just north of the student union building, bypassing several of the white and pink university plugs.

According to local fire officials, the university hydrants are hampered in effectiveness because the water to the hydrants runs through the metered water system which feeds the campus.

Administrators have also asked regents for authorization to begin a search for a Fire and Safety Officer for the campus. The university currently has no such officer.

Other items set for the regents include changes in the structure of the regents as a governing body.

Several by-laws changes are recommended in the agenda, including one which would provide for annual election of board officers. Officers are currently elected annually but the election schedule is difficult to comply with. Another change in the by-laws would allow an officer to succeed himself for only one one-year term.

Another change in the by-laws retains the regents executive committee, which under current by-laws includes only the president, vice president and secretary of the board. The change proposed would place an additional non-officer regent on the executive committee.

The hearing body report on the status of Dr. Emilio Caballero, former chairman of the university art department, is also on the agenda for regent approval.

Under the due process procedure established by regents in early August, the regents may either approve or disapprove the decision by the two-dean, three-department head hearing body concerning Caballero's tenure as department chairman.

The hearing body early this month backed the university administration's decision not to renew Caballero as chairman of the department.

Other items scheduled for regent attention:

*A group life, disability and cancer plan be approved for the faculty.

*The leasing of a portion of the student union building to the State Department of Health Resources for use by Region I health center be approved.

Collectors due information

Disabled vets due tax break

Disabled veterans in Canyon and Randall County will be entitled to property tax exemptions varying to as much as $3000 of the assessed value of their property under a new law which goes into effect Jan. 1.

Local tax officials learned of the law, which was enacted by the last session of the Texas legislature, this week from Roland Black, local veterans service officer.

Mrs. Audrey Bruse, county tax collector, and Conway Kuykendall, city-school tax collector, agree the granting of exemptions to disabled veterans will push more tax burden on other taxpayers.

More specific information concerning the law, including how to apply for exemptions, should be available from Kuykendall and Black before the first of the year.

Information furnished by Black indicates the tax exemptions for veterans with service-connected disabilities and their surviving spouses are mandatory and not up to local governmental units on an optional basis.

While veterans with service-connected disabilities and their surviving spouses are eligible for the exemption, spouses and minor children of a person who dies while on active duty in the armed forces are also exempt from taxation to a certain level.

A veteran whose service-connected disability is rated less than 10 percent by the Veterans Administration is not entitled to any property tax exemption, Black's information says.

For those with a disability rating of between 10 percent and 30

Funds cutback will hurt

Hunsley overpass delay expected

In addition to a cut-back in staffing for area Texas Highway Department offices, a lack of highway funds may also significantly delay a construction project extending Hunsley Road north of Canyon to the east.

The lack of funds may or may not have a detrimental impact on the proposed construction of a new Interstate 27 route around Canyon, according to Ed Timmons of the department's district planning office.

Timmons predicted Monday a lack of state highway funds could slow considerably the planned project which will include construction of an overpass extending Hunsley Road to the east over U.S. 87 to link up with a road east of the railroad tracks which run parallel to the highway north of Canyon.

"We may have to wait awhile" for funds for the project, Timmons said. "We may get the red tape done faster than we can get the money, which would be a switch for us because we're used to getting the money and then having the red tape delay us."

Timmons said the Amarillo district office has this year about one-half as much money for construction as in the past.

He expects the fate of the Interstate 27 project, which has been in the works since the late 1960s, to depend on the action Congress takes this year or next year on a new highway act.

No funding, he said, has been set aside for the project.

Nevertheless, he anticipates federal funds to be appropriated for the project.

Even if the federal government appropriates funds for the project, he said, it might be a problem obtaining state matching funds for the construction.

"Assuming things don't get any worse with state funds, there ought to be matching funds," he said. "I don't think there'll be any real problem on matching funds, but there could be."

Because of a lack of state funds, the district office last week announced the lay-off of 34 workers in various regional offices.

Four men were laid off at the Canyon office, but others are to be moved into Canyon from the Perryton office, which will be phased out under the austerity program.

Canyon schools use the paddle

Spankings ruling doesn't sting

A U.S. Supreme Court ruling Monday upholding the use of corporal punishment in public schools won't have any effect in Canyon where teachers and school officials have wielded the paddle when necessary for years.

The nation's highest court affirmed without comment a ruling by a North Carolina appellate court that public school teachers may spank a pupil against the wishes of the child's parents.

Canyon Supt. Jerry Jacobs said spankings have been administered in local schools for years.

"We have some parents who object, but not very many," he said.

He said the district has a school board-written policy which states that spankings may be administered to children, but that corporal punishment should be considered only as a last resort.

Nevertheless, he said, not many spankings are administered in the schools here.

"The important thing is that we can (spank the pupils) and the kids know we can," he said.

Canyon elementary school principals confirmed that the use of the paddle is limited only to extreme cases.

"We try everything else first," Luther Lawless, principal at Gene Howe Elementary School, said. "It's a last resort."

Lawless said individual classroom teachers are allowed to mete out the punishment if required, but that a witness must be present when the paddling is given.

Bob Parks, principal of Rex Reeves Elementary School, said he administers paddlings to "a few (kids) a week," but that primarily the use of the spanking is reserved for those occasions, either when the child has been disciplined in other ways to no avail, or when the infraction demands a spanking.

Jacobs said each principal compiles each semester a list of those children who received paddlings during the semester, along with applicable data and forwards the information for filing in his office.

Bond election date set

School board won't appeal ruling

Canyon School Board members agreed without a vote Tuesday night not to appeal a Texas Education Commissioner's decision upholding the annexation of 160 acres of subdivision land by the Amarillo school district.

But, Supt. Jerry Jacobs left the door open, should school board members change their minds before the appeal deadline of Oct. 31.

"We won't write and say we won't appeal," Jacobs said. "So, if any of you change your minds . . ."

Board members generally agreed the appeal to be less important than a pending bond election and issue for the construction of two new schools.

Jacobs joined School District Attorney Elton Cox in recommending the board not appeal the decision rendered earlier this month by the education commissioner. The commissioner upheld a ruling made in October 1974 by the Randall County Board of School Trustees allowing the 160-acre Glendale development to be annexed by Amarillo.

Jacobs said School Financial Advisor Bob Davis of Columbian Securities Corporation indicated it would be possible to appeal the commissioner's decision to the state board of education, but if the school board won the case and it was subsequently appealed into the district courts by the original petitioners the legal quagmire could stall issuance of any construction bonds.

If the school board does, in fact, not appeal the decision, the county school trustees must clarify a motion made by J. D. Barker last October allowing the de-annexation. Barker's motion called for the Amarillo school district to pay the Canyon district an amount equal to the taxes which might be collected from the 160-acre subdivision annually for five years.

The county board must also pass a resolution redefining the boundaries of the school districts before the actual transfer of land can take place.

In other business Tuesday night, board members set Dec. 9 as the date for a bond election on the question of whether bonds should be issued to finance construction of a new elementary school and a new high school in the north part of the school dis-

Defensive Eagles Pace District

Canyon's Eagles, pacing their district along with the rival North Plains team they'll meet in another week, are spending this week working on offensive plays and weaker points underscored in last Friday night's victory over Dumas.

Coach Deane Wright is running his Eagles through drills to strengthen an already tough Eagle defense so it can stop a Perryton offense which has proven potent in piling up a 4-2 season record this year.

The Eagles and Rangers go at it Friday Oct. 31 at Perryton.

A good deal of this week and next will be spent by the Canyon team and coaches working on the sluggish Eagle offensive unit, which came to life in the fourth quarter against Dumas to wrack up 14 quick points and a victory, the first of the year for Canyon.

The kicking game will also be a point for work for the Eagles as they prepare for Perryton, according to Wright. Against Dumas, the Eagles' kicker Ricky Cooper had one punt blocked.

Punt coverage will also be a key drill item on Wright's agenda for the week before the Perryton outing. Wright said the Rangers in every game this season have taken a punt return either to score or to set up a touchdown.

Canyon fans who make the trip by bus or car to the game can expect to see some starting changes in the Eagle backfield, Wright indicated.

Joe Luquette, injured in the Palo Duro game two weeks ago, returned to action Friday night against Dumas and started in the defensive backfield.

"We didn't know (at the start of the game) whether physically he could go both ways," Wright said.

As a result, Luquette played on the defensive unit until the fourth quarter, when he went in to relieve Gary Ward at halfback.

Luquette might be expected to start at the offensive position against Perryton along with Kenny Basinger, named the outstanding Eagle player in the Dumas game.

Basinger went in during the last stanza for Jonathan Hull at fullback.

While Wright was pleased to win the Dumas-Eagle game of last weekend, he was not particularly pleased by the play of the offensive unit of the Canyon team.

"They didn't play all that well in the first half, but in the fourth quarter they played real well," he said. "The offense made their usual mistakes in the first half, but we eliminated those in the second half."

The defense drew strong praise from Wright for play against Dumas.

The defensive unit held the Demons to only 30 yards total rushing through the night Friday, said by some observers to be the least yardage gained by a Dumas team in 15 or so years.

'Hello Dolly' Cast Chosen

The cast for Canyon High School's spring musical production of "Hello Dolly" was announced this week after tryouts at the school.

The title role of Dolly will be played by Leslie Gallemore while the prey in her matrimonial hunt, wealthy merchant Horace Vandergelder, will be played by Scott Purkeypile.

Supporting them will be Sharon Lindeman as Mrs. Malloy, Royal Brantley as Cornelius, Laurie Davidchik as Minnie Faye and Rick Mantooth as Barnaby.

The young lovers Ambrose and Ermengarde will be played by Tim Martin and Christi Corley.

Others in the cast include Kim Steelman as Ernestine Money, Allen Shankles as the judge, and Wendy Hunnicutt as Mrs. Rose. The part of Rudolph will be chosen by choreographer, Neil Hess.

Approximately 75 singers and dancers have been chosen to complete the cast.

The production crew will be headed by Bob Lindsey as stage manager.

Coordinating the musical will be Neva Chowning, director of drama, Charlotte Brantley, art director and Doug McCause, musical director.

The play is scheduled to be presented Feb. 21, 22, 23.

'My Country' Topic For Beta Sigma Phis

Chi Upsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority held a regular meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Carrie Bertrand with Ruth Wilcox as co-hostess.

Guests were greeted by the hostess attired in an 1870's dress with apron and dust cap. Nell Haws, president, conducted the business meeting and plans were made for the chapter rituals and a Mothers dinner, both events to be held in November.

All members were urged to submit their heritage recipes for the annual Beta Sigma Phi cookbook. The book when published in 1976 will be a Bicentennial edition.

The chapter heard a report from the service committee on a birthday gift for Connie Strieley, the chapter's adopted daughter from the Children's Home in Amarillo.

The membership was reminded of the annual Halloween party to be held Nov. 25. The party will originate at the home of Jeri and Don Rozell and will progress to other members' homes for traditional Halloween games and treats. Members, guests and their husbands will be rewarded with prizes for the zaniest costumes.

"This Is My Country" was the program presented by Ruth Wilcox at the meeting Tuesday evening and the door prize was won by Janine Adams. Members present included: Marlene Howell, Vi Taylor, Sandy Martin, Ruth Wilcox, Marion Thompson, Jeri Rozell, Janine Adams, Nell Haws and Carrie Bertrand, hostess.

Commissioners Split Votes

It's rare enough for Randall County commissioners to disagree when it comes to voting in their regular Monday sessions, but Monday afternoon they were split on two votes, both of which required a vote of County Judge Woody Pond.

Commissioners locked horns at the vote over whether to continue under the present county employee insurance policy and over whether to ask the state and federal governments to finance a signing and striping program for county roads.

Following a lengthy discussion concerning bids for insurance for county employees, Commissioners John Fulgenzi and Paul Lindsey voted together favoring retention of Republic National Insurance Co. as the county's insurance firm.

Commissioner Dee Griffin voted against the motion of Fulgenzi, after contending the county should provide employees with a major medical and health policy which included a deductible clause which he argued would save monthly payments for employees.

Commissioner Jim Fletcher abstained from voting and Pond cast a vote with Fulgenzi and Lindsey.

A three-man committee made up of insurance agents from Amarillo and Canyon had studied insurance proposals from several firms for about a month and turned in their recommendations to the commissioners Monday through Griffin.

Under the plan accepted in the vote, county employees will be insured for health and life insurance at the same rate now insured. Republic National has been for several years providing insurance for the employees.

The rate for an employee and dependent will be $57.80 per month, with the county paying that portion of the rate for the employee only.

Republic National's bid was not recommended by the three-man committee or by Griffin, their recommendation being that the county go with Crown Life Insurance Co.

On the vote concerning whether the county should begin a striping and signing county roads, Fulgenzi abstained from voting, Lindsey voted against, and Griffin and Fletcher voted for. Pond also voted for the motion of Fletcher to stripe 23.6 miles of county roads.

Fulgenzi contended the striping program could get the county into legal problems in the future.

Under the program, federal funds will pay for striping of the 23.6 miles for two years by the state. After that period, the county must continue striping the roads.

Under the signing program, the federal government will provide 311 signs for county roads to replace signs which do not now meet federal specifications.

County Road Supt. Joe West estimated that it will cost the county about $150 per mile to strip the roads after the federally-sponsored program is completed.

In other business Monday, commissioners approved the purchase of about $1600 in kitchen equipment from Sears of Amarillo for use in the sheriff's office to prepare daily meals for jail prisoners.

Sheriff Cliff Longest had told commissioners two weeks ago that the local firm which now provides two meals per day to prisoners plans to abandon the contract around Dec. 1.

Longest plans to prepare frozen dinners and breakfasts for the prisoners at a savings of about $2000 per year to the county.

Commissioners approved a proposal from Lindsey that the county begin immediately tracking down local farmers who run farm machinery on county roads causing damage to the raods.

He handed Pond a check for $393 from one local farmer who tore up a newly-paved county road north of Canyon.

Griffin requested that the commissioners discuss the accumulation of sick leave for county employees at the next court meeting, 1 p.m. Nov. 3.

Claire Kuehn and Dr. Duane Guy of the Randall County-Canyon Bicentennial Committee present a grant check of $2,040 to Ray Grimes, hospital administrator at Palo Duro Hospital, to pay for earth work and walkways in a new outdoor garden area and visitor's center at the hospital.

Contributions Requested For Garden

Earth work and walkways for an outdoor garden and visitors center on the north side of Palo Duro Hospital have recently been completed.

The Randall County Bicentennial Committee issued a check for $2,040 this week to cover the work already completed and issued a request to local citizens to provide matching funds to plant the garden area with trees, provide benches, fountains, tables and other items to complete the project.

A challenge grant from the American Revolutionary Bicentennial Committee has provided for the earth work and walkways already completed.

Contributions toward the bicentennial project are tax deductible, according to Claire Kuehn, project chairman, who notes that a tree can be planted for a $28-$38 donation; a bench provided for $36; a fountain for $95; a bird bath for $15-$45; a table for $54-$75 or a decorative urn for $6-$15.

Letters have been mailed describing the project through Bi-Centennial Committee workers including Mrs. Robert Hernandez, Mrs. Duane Guy and Mrs. Claire Kuehn, with assistance from Canyon Chamber of Commerce Women's Division members including Mesdames Leon Gheer, Joe Markham, James Irwin, Scott Downing, Chloe Ann Black and Genelle Bourland.

The Women's Division donated $85 for mail out expenses incurred by the project.

Contributions may be made to the Bicentennial Committee, Box 8, Canyon, Texas 79015.

Bi-Centennial Theme For Events Saturday

As Americans across the land take a nostalgic look at their past, residents of Canyon and area will have a special "evening from the past" to remember after Saturday, Oct. 25, when the doors of the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum swing open at 8 p.m. for the "American Reflections" bi-centennial ball.

The bi-centennial ball will serve as a special kick-off for "Museum Week" here and over 2,000 persons are expected at the event Saturday evening.

Sponsored by the West Texas State University Advisory Council on Campus Enhancement, the Panhandle Plains Historical Society and the Randall County-Canyon Bicentennial Committee, the ball promises to be a most exciting evening for participants as the museum's Pioneer Village "comes alive." Life in the Pioneer Village will be most active with the Country Store, General Store, the Village Hotel, Bank and Blacksmith Shop open as in days gone by.

Meanwhile in the authentic Pioneer Village home other activities will be underway by various members of the Campus Services Organization. And in the Pioneer Hall at 9 p.m. a special exhibition of square dancing will be presented by Canyon Capers Square Dance Club.

Pioneer Hall will be filled with dance music during the evening with the David Ritter Combo playing for the occasion. A special demonstration will be a muzzle loading exhibition by Al W. Hill, national president of the Muzzle Loading Rifle Association.

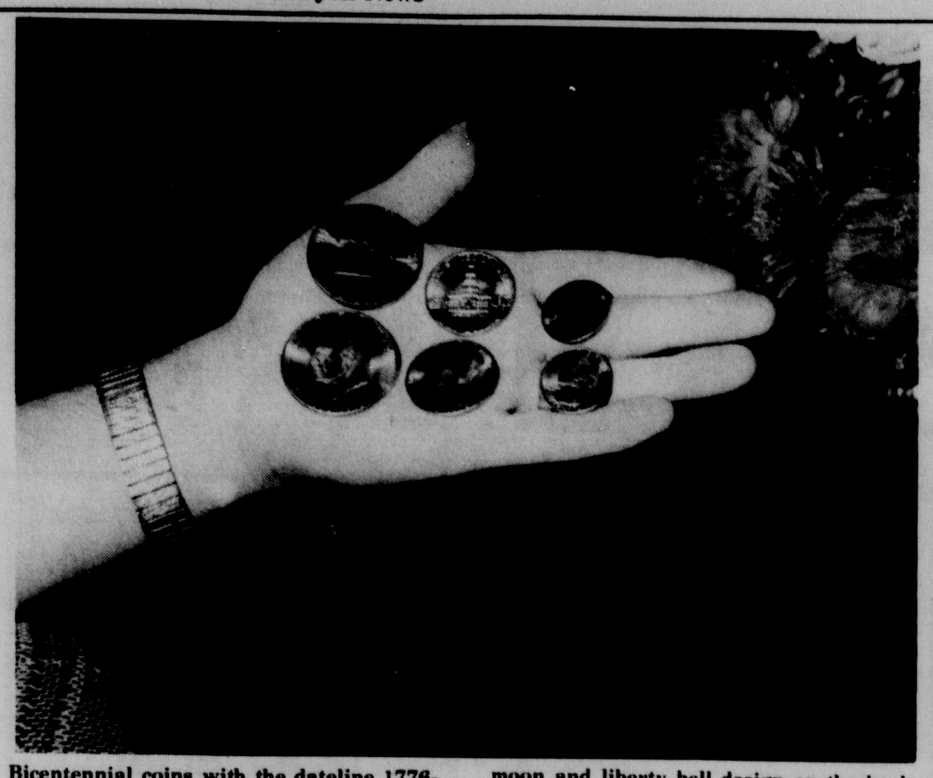
The Lecture Gallery on the museum's second floor will offer Reader's Theatre presentations under the direction of Dr. Zell Sorelle at 8:30, 9:30 and 10:30 p.m. during the event. Personal photographs can be made during the evening with a photographer from Britain Studio available.

Planned as a fun evening, the bi-centennial ball tickets are available at $10 per couple or $5 for individuals and may be reserved by calling the WTSU Director of Development's Office at 656-2331.

Although attire is on an optional basis, a costume contest has been arranged by the entertainment committee. Participants will be judged individually during the evening and no formal entries are required. Categories being judged will be Heirloom Attire, Panhandle Frontier Days, Authentic Copies and Best Overall Bicentennial Theme.

The costume awards presentation will be held at 10:15 p.m. in the Pioneer Hall. Judges for the contest will include Mr. and Mrs. William A. Moore, Dr. Ples Harper, Mrs. Royal Brantley, Mrs. Olive Bugbee and Mrs. B. Raymond Evans. Those planning to attend in "heirloom attire" have been asked to contact Mrs. Patrick Kelso, 655-7516, so that recognition ribbons will be ready at the door Saturday evening.

General chairmen for the overall planning committee were Mrs. Lloyd I. Watkins, Mrs. Charles M. Smallwood, Mrs. Franklin W. Daugherty, Dr. Duane F. Guy, Joseph H. Pool and Dr. James A. Hanson. Consultants on the project were Mrs. Leonard Wilson and Mrs. Ples Harper.



Bicentennial coins with the dateline 1776-1976 are now available in limited quantities at First National Bank in Canyon. The silver dollars (limited three to a customer) have a moon and liberty bell design on the back, while the halves have the symbol of Independence Hall, and the quarters are backed with the minuteman design.

History Prof Will Present Biography At Conference

West Texas State University Associate Professor of History Darrell Munsell will present a paper entitled "Patron vs. Publisher: The History of a Biography" at the Rocky Mountain Conference on British Studies.

"This is a history of the publication of John Martineau's 'The Life of Henry Pelham Fifth Duke of Newcastle, 1811-1864'," Dr. Munsell said. "The history provides an interesting historiographical note to the Crimean War as well as insight into biographical writing during the late Victorian period."

The story begins in the spring of 1888, when Lord Edward Pelham Clinton, the second son of the late fifth duke of Newcastle, set out to vindicate his father's official reputation and to repudiate the serious charges that as secretary of war he had been most responsible for the disastrous winter campaign of 1854 in the Crimea. He commissioned Thomas Carlisle to do his father's biography, which was rejected by publisher John Murray on the grounds of its scholarly style and unpopular content. The re-write, later done by John Martineau, was rejected by Lord Edward because it portrayed his father unfavorably. When Lord Edward died in 1907, Murray got his way, publishing the unfavorable biography at the permission of Lord Edward's nephew.

The conference will be held in Tuscon, Arizona from Oct. 31 through Nov. 1.

Jr. Stockman Meet Oct. 28

The 1975 Fall membership meeting for the Randall County Junior Livestock Association has been set for Tuesday evening, October 28, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Vocational Agriculture Department of Canyon High School.

Reports, operational procedures and general decisions and assignments will be conducted along with the election of officers.

Bob Gruner, association president, will preside at the October meeting.

Muzzle Loading Demonstration Part Of Fun At Bi-Centennial

Al W. Hill, president of the National Muzzle Loading Rifle Association, will demonstrate the "art involved in muzzle loading" as a part of the "American Reflections" bi-centennial ball events on Saturday evening, Oct. 25, at the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum in Canyon.

AL. W. Hill

Mr. Hill heads the NMLRA which sports 18,000 members with charter clubs in all states and some 20 foreign countries.

He and his wife, Janell, make their home at 3900 Barclay in Amarillo and have four children: Cheryl, who is a student at West Texas State University; Sheila, who is a student at Texas Technological University in Lubbock; John, a student at Amarillo High School; and Carl, a student at Bonham Junior High School.

A fishery biologist by training and experience, Mr. Hill is presently with the Regional Environmental Specialist department of the Bureau of Reclamation, U.S. Department of the Interior. He did undergraduate and graduate work at Oklahoma State University.

"The National Muzzle Loading Rifle Association is dedicated to understanding of marksmanship abilities comparable to the early American muzzle loading firearms of yesteryear," relates Mr. Hill. "Muzzleloading is the fastest growing shooting sport in the country and is a family sport to be enjoyed by young and old alike."

Since originating in 1933, the National Muzzleloading championship matches have been held annually during August and this year over 1,900 competitors were involved in this bit of true Americana, according to Mr. Hill. The national firing range is located near Friendship in southeastern Indiana. The bicentennial championship matches and celebration are set for May 29-June 5, 1976.

"The use of black powder muzzleloading rifles and shotguns is not confined to the target ranges as many are used for the same purpose as our forefathers," states Mr. Hill. "Folks use muzzleloading rifles and shotguns to provide food for the table and it gives hunters a special feeling of accomplishment when they hunt with the same equipment as that used by their ancestors."

"Muzzleloading is a 'way of life' and gives hunters a better means of understanding their American heritage," he related.

Although there are many kinds of muzzleloading rifles and shotguns, the flintlock rifle and muskets were the firearms of the Revolutionary era.

Military troops, both Americans and the British, used the English "Brown Bess" smoothbore musket while some Americans and French troops used the French "Charleville" musket, noted Mr. Hill.

Firearms which struck terror in the minds of British soldiers were the highly accurate American, Pennsylvania flintlock long rifles (sometimes erroneously referred to as the "Kentucky Rifle").

The flintlock rifle and ignition system, along with later developed muzzleloading firearms will be demonstrated at the "American Reflections" bi-centennial ball and celebration by Mr. Hill who uses muzzleloaders for practically all his own hunting experiences.

"Modern firearms," he notes, "excell only for long range shooting, for ease in cleaning, and for that sometimes needed second or third shot while hunting."

Young Musicians To Attend Meet

High School students contemplating a music major in college will be attending a Music Careers Conference at West Texas State University on Nov. 15.

Application deadline for the conference is Nov. 5 to George E. Umberson, head of the university department of music.

The Careers Conference is not a contest although simple exams will be given in theory and ear-training and when applicable the degree of keyboard facility will be evaluated for students. Each student will perform an audition in his performance medium and students will be involved in group counseling with their strengths and weaknesses being noted.

All high school students planning to major in music during their college career are invited to participate in the Music Career Conference.

Halloween Carnival Adding More Booths

A pie throwing booth, toss game, and marriage license booth have been added this week to the Canyon Study Club sponsored Halloween Carnival to be held on October 30.

Other booths previously signed up were a nickel throw by the Canyon Dames; an apple bobbing booth and Raggedy Ann by the Les Amies Juniorette Club; a popcorn machine by the University Study Club; a cake walk by Alpha Theta Delta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority; and a foods concession with frito pie, cokes, and coffee by the Randall County Home Demonstration Council; a bingo booth by the Lions Club; a clothes pin and ring the bottle booth by Girl Scout Troop 22; and a popcorn ball and candied apple concession by Delta Zeta sorority.

The new booths added this week are being sponsored by the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, the Canyon Rotary Club and the Senior High Methodist Youth Fellowship.

Others desiring booth space may make arrangements this week with Sandra McRobert, 655-4005; Mattie Wall, 655-2070; or Judy Becknell, 655-4007.

The carnival will be held Oct. 30 from 6-10 p.m. and a junior high school candidate will be crowned as the Halloween Carnival Queen during the festivities that evening. Voting on the candidates will be done in a penny-a-vote type of selection.

Orienteering--New Sport On WT Campus

Although orienteering is a sport that is in its infancy at West Texas State University, representatives from Buffs country have already collected trophies in regional competition.

The first meeting of the new WTSU orienteering club was held this week and next semester, orienteering will be offered in the physical education department for credit in both PE and ROTC.

Recently, WT coed Olga EscoBedo copped a first place in the novice women's division of the Southern Orienteering Meet held at Camp Beauregard, La. by Southeast Louisiana University and the Louisiana National Guard. Maj. Dan Telfair, assistant professor of military science, took a second in the intermediate men's division and Tom McWhorter placed fifth in the novice men's class.

"We really went to the meet just to learn," Maj. Telfair said. He explained orienteering as a combination of map reading and cross-country running. Competitors must navigate within a time limit a course with several checkpoints.

The sport began in Sweden in the mid-30's and became very popular in northern Europe. Since orienteering was introduced in the United States several years ago, the sport has attracted a sizable following.

The WT club plans to become affiliated with the National Orienteering Federation in the United States and the parent organization, the International Orienteering Federation. The clubs' goals are to eventually host an intercollegiate orienteering meet.

The members will meet weekly to practice map reading and instruct newcomers in navigation skill and will stage monthly meets for club members at Palo Duro Canyon.

Haunted House Oct. 29

Halloween's Haunted House will open on Wednesday evening, Oct. 29, under the sponsorship of Kappa Kappa Psi band fraternity at West Texas State University.

The ghosts and goblins will be busy each evening through the weekend at the Haunted House to be located next door to Southwestern Public Service Building in downtown Canyon, 4th Avenue.

Admission will be 75 cents and a special Halloween poster contest has been arranged through the schools to advertise the project in the Amarillo-Canyon area, according to Mrs. Gary Garner.

Posters are due to be turned in to Mrs. Garner by Oct. 27 with winners to be announced Oct. 28 and to receive cash prizes.

Stribling In Ozarks Band

Don Stribling of Canyon has been selected for membership in the College of the Ozarks Concert Band, a 26-member group which gives spring and fall concerts featuring popular and classical music.

Stribling is the son of Rev. Baldwin Stribling.

HOW MANY YEARS WILL YOU LIVE?

It is now possible to live a much longer life. Almost every infectious disease can be controlled by modern drugs. Even the few incurables can be restrained if the diagnosis is early.

But, you must secure expert treatment before disease can ravage your body. Consult your physician at the beginning of physical discomfort. Take the medication prescribed. Follow his expert advice and you increase the odds for living a longer, more sickness-free life.

"A GREAT MANY PEOPLE ENTRUST US with their prescriptions, health needs and other pharmacy products. We consider this trust a privilege and a duty. May we be your personal family pharmacy?"

DISSATISFIED in your current job? Many people are actually "under employed." That is, they never get a chance to achieve full professional and financial potential in their jobs. This is not so with the National Motor Club. Our representatives have no limits on their financial income, with the exception of their own ability. Many of our first year representatives have earned $12,000 to $15,000. We have a company-paid profit sharing program and many more benefits. If you are a person who enjoys talking with people, are mature, married and over 21, you have an excellent chance of success with NMC. We have openings in several West Texas cities. For more information on a job that can begin paying you at least $200 a week, call me collect. Herb Zschieche (806) 352-6923, after 6 p.m.

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to appear before the Honorable 47th District Court of Randall County at the Courthouse thereof, in Canyon, Texas, by filing a written answer at or before 10 o'clock A.M. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 17 day of November A.D. 1975, to Plaintiff's Petition filed in said court, on the 30th day of September A.D. 1975, in this cause, numbered 14,992-A on the docket of said court and styled DONALD BLANKENSHIP and wife, MARTHA CORRINE BLANKENSHIP, Plaintiffs, vs. JOHN HUTSON, or his unknown heirs, devisees, grantees, representatives, executors, administrators, successors and assigns of the said JOHN HUTSON, if he not be living; and L.E. BROWN, or her unknown heirs, devisees, grantees, representatives, executors, administrators, successors and assigns of the said L.E. BROWN, if she not be living, Defendants.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to-wit: Suit in trespass to try title concerning the title to South 90' of Lots 2 and 3, Block 22, Original Town of Canyon, Randall County, Texas, (except approximate 20' by 25' tract of land out of the Southwest corner of said Lot 3) as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

If this citation is not served within ninety days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

The officer executing this writ shall promptly serve the same according to requirements of law, and the mandates hereof, and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the seal of said court at Canyon, Randall County, Texas, this the 3 day of October A.D. 1975.

Teaching Trends Workshop

Lou Heckle, director and consultant in foreign language to Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Corporation, will speak at "New Trends in Teaching Modern Languages" Oct. 25 in the West Texas State University Student Activities Center.

The workshop will be held from 9 a.m. until noon in Room 216, and is free of charge.

Having taught these languages himself, Heckle is an academic consultant in French, Latin and Spanish for teachers using the Encyclopedia Britannica programs.

Through conferences, workshops and demonstration teaching, Heckle provides in-service assistance in support of the company programs.

Another of Heckle's duties is to assist district managers at sale presentations and in sales training. He is also a liason between marketing and production and a special advisor to marketing on foreign language as a product.

The West Texas State University Modern Languages Department is sponsoring the workshop for students and teachers of modern languages.

Two representatives of Encyclopedia Britannica will demonstrate texts, filmstrips, tapes, and cassettes to illustrate new methods of teaching languages.

Elva Mae Deer, WTSU learning center coordinator, will also provide a demonstration of learning activities which individualize instruction.

Wilson's Magnavox, Western Plaza, Amarillo, will demonstrate cassettes available.

Genealogy Society Organizing

A genealogy society for Canyon and surrounding communities is forming with the first organizational meeting scheduled for Oct. 28 at 7:30 in Seminar Room B of WTSU Cornette Library.

The society is intended to aid both beginning and advanced genealogy enthusiasts. Discussions will include techniques of research, types of records available and systems for organizing your notes and records.

Maize Harvest Nearing End

By MARY NEAL HENRY

MAIZE HARVEST HAS been long this year. Some of ours below the hill already had a killing frost on it by last weekend.

Trucks loaded with corn were lined up in Hart as in post-war days when we traveled to Sudan two weekends ago. Corn must have been a record crop also.

Speaking of Sudan, the Cowboys played a great game that weekend, but came back this weekend to give up their game to Valley 28-0. It was terrible. Nothing clicked. A very bad day!

THE UNION-SALEM Home Demonstration Club recently met with Glenna Crooks. Present were Judy Thompson, Billie Pearson, Jean Fowler, Carol King, Jo Wright, Betty Womack, Jesse Rector, Mary McCaslin and guests Vicki Littlefield, Lucy Culwell and Ellen Hill.

Lucy Culwell presented the program. She demonstrated macrame, the art of mounting butterflies and preserving freshly picked flowers. Lucy also gave ideas on Christmas decorations.

The next meeting will be with Jean Fowler. Genieve will demonstrate doll draping at that meeting.

HAPPY CHAPTER OF the Order of the Eastern Star met on Tuesday evening to celebrate the chapter's birthday. Worthy Matron Catherine Miller also gave the report of the Grand Chapter of Texas, held recently in Dallas.

The 93rd Session of the Grand Chapter reported that the goal of five kidney machines in Texas this year, had been surpassed. Ten kidney machines were donated to five districts of Texas this year.

$12,000 was donated to the M.D. Anderson Cancer and Tumor Research Foundation. Dr. Robert Hickey was present to receive the check.

Dr. Joseph D. Mitchell accepted a check for $14,000 for the Southwest Medical School.

Dr. Harold Cheek accepted another check for $12,000 for the Baylor University Medical School to be used in the research of breast cancer.

Forty nine (49) scholarships were presented ministerial students. These totaled $26,465.

The Eastern Star Chapters of Texas maintain a home for the aged in Arlington, Tex. $40,836 was donated during this year to that home. An additional $30,716 was added to the Home Endowment Fund which is a trust fund for the home.

Chapters from all over the state contributed to these programs to make this successful report.

AND HERE IS the recipe that won second in the National Beef Cook-Off. It was presented by a cook from Phoenix, Ariz:

COWBOY GREEN CHILI BEEF BAKE

2½ pounds beef round steak.
2 tablespoons cooking fat.
1 tablespoon dehydrated onion.
½-teaspoon chili powder (optional).
¼-teaspoon oregano.
Salt to taste.
½-teaspoon minced garlic.
1 small bunch green onions, cut in 1-inch pieces.
1 can (4 ounces) chopped green chilies, drained.
1 can (4½ ounces) chopped ripe olives.
2 cans (15 ounces each) pinto beans, drained.
2 cans (10 ounces each) tomatoes and green chilies.
1 tablespoon cornstarch, mixed with ¼-cup hot water.
1 package (8) refrigerated crescent rolls.
10 to 16 ounces sharp Cheddar cheese, shredded.
Parsley, if desired.

Remove any bone and fat from round steak; slice thin into bite-size pieces. Heat cooking fat in a 10-inch frying-pan and add meat, dehydrated onion, chili powder, oregano, salt, garlic, green onions, chilies and olives. Cook until meat is browned. Place 1 can drained pinto beans in a lightly greased 2½-quart casserole; place 1 can tomatoes and green chilies on top. Add cornstarch mixture to meat and simmer until thickened, stirring occasionally. Place crescent rolls on a lightly greased cookie sheet. Place a small amount of meat mixture on each roll and roll according to package directions. Continue with remaining rolls. Cover with wax paper and set aside. Place a layer of ½ of remaining meat mixture in casserole and top with ½ the cheese. Repeat the four layers. Bake in a slow over (325 degrees F.) for 15 minutes. Place crescent rolls in oven. Continue baking the casserole and the rolls 15 to 20 minutes or until rolls are lightly browned. Remove from oven. Arrange rolls on casserole and serve. Garnish with parsley, if desired. 8 servings.

Have a good day! Mary Neal

Funeral Rites Set Friday For Lester Knox, 68

Funeral services for Lester Knox, 68, will be held Friday afternoon, October 24, at Schooler-Gordon Funeral Chapel in Canyon.

Mr. Knox died early Wednesday morning at Palo Duro Hospital in Canyon. He was born August 13, 1907 at Whitewright, Texas and moved to the Sunnyhill Community where he farmed until moving to Canyon in 1953.

He graduated from Canyon High School and attended West Texas State. He was married to Gladys Sharp on December 25, 1931 at McCaulley, Texas.

After moving to Canyon, Mr. Knox was employed with Consumer Fuel Association until retirement in 1972. The Knox family resides at 1817 Second Avenue, Canyon.

Rev. Derrel Lewis of the First Baptist Church in Bovina will officiate at the funeral services Friday at 2 p.m. Burial will be at Dreamland Cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, Gladys of the home; a son, Buddy Knox of Vancouver, Canada; a daughter, Mrs. Verdie Brown of Fritch; and six grandchildren.

The family has requested that memorial gifts go to the Randall County Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

More than a backwards glance was in order as students at Canyon Junior High kicked off Spirit Week with Sdrawkcab Yad (Backwards Day). Some fine examples of backwardness are given by (kneeling) Ronny Hoyl, Brent Hutchins, Wayne Wallace; (second row) Staci Lyles, Jana Tipps, Carla Schmidt, English teacher Don Lacy, Debra Drost; (third row) Mike Moore, Tracy Byrd and Steve Thompson.

The polls will be open that day from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., and Jacobs told board members the ballots must be in both English and Spanish and it appears Spanish interpreters must be available at polling places in Canyon and South Amarillo.

Davis is expected to present figures on bonded indebtedness to the school board at their scheduled Nov. 4 meeting.

The board has discussed the possibility that between $5 million and $6 million in bonds will be issued for the construction projects.

Two citizens advisory committees have completed their studies of the local district and the need for new schools and both have recommended two new schools be constructed in the north part of the county.

Board members reviewed both committee reports during their session, but took no action.

The board reviewed Canyon High School seniors' college entrance exam test scores for the years since 1970. The figures for the local students' scores on the Scholastic Achievement Test and the American College Test indicate seniors here are continuously raising scores when compared to the continually decreasing national norm averages.

Jacobs distributed to board members copies of the oath of office which will be required of each faculty and staff member under a recent ruling by the education agency in Austin.

The oath is the same as one required of newly-elected state officials.

"This is a voluntary thing," Jacobs said with a smile. "But, if they don't sign it, they'll work without pay."

Following their regular session, the board went into executive session to discuss the acquisition of land in the north part of the district for location of a new elementary school.

percent, the tax exemption would apply to the first $1500 of assessed value; for those with a disability rating of between 31 percent and 50 percent, the exemption would apply to the first $2000 of assessed value; for those with a disability rating of between 51 percent and 70 percent, the exemption would apply to the first $2500 of assessed value; and for those with a disability rating of 71 percent and more, the exemption would apply to the full $3000 of assessed value.

Black said the law would affect between 40 and 50 disabled veterans in Canyon. He said he had no figures on how many disabled veterans own property in the Canyon school district or Randall County.

Likewise, neither Mrs. Bruse nor Kuykendall have any idea how many exemptions will be applied for under the new law.

Mrs. Bruse said, though, the law will cost the county money for preparation of new computer programs.

"Of course, it will reduce the tax base, and anytime you grant exemptions you increase taxes on everyone else," she said.

Kuykendall voiced a similar feeling about the new law.

"We're getting too many exemptions," he said. "We have $52 million in exempt property in the school district now."

Passage of the law exempting property of disabled veterans from the tax rolls at the $3000 level puts into effect a provision in the proposed new state constitution, which goes to the voters Nov. 4.

That provision allows the legislature to pass legislation exempting property of disabled veterans from taxation.

Already, the City of Canyon and Randall County grant $3000 exemptions to property owners over the age of 65. Mrs. Bruse estimated that the exemption costs the county about $15,000 in tax revenue each year.

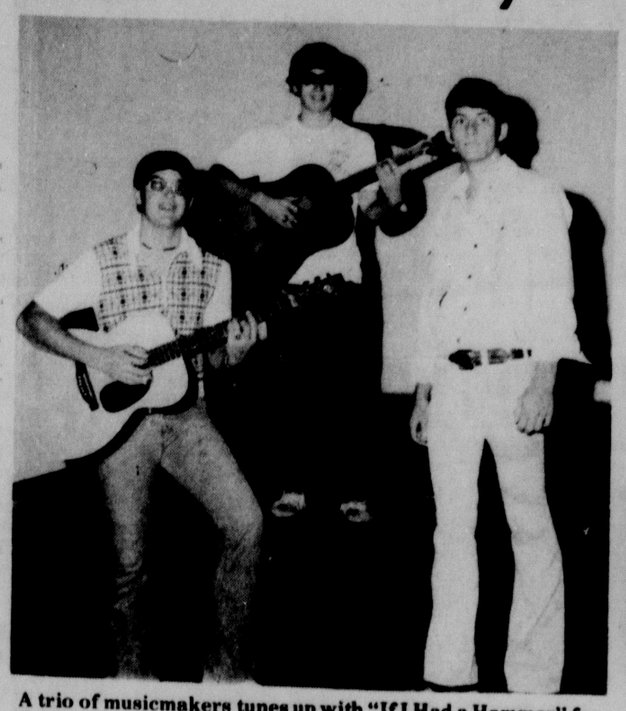
Choral Variety Show Tonight And Friday



A trio of musicmakers tunes up with "If I Had a Hammer" for the variety show tonight and Friday night at the CHS auditorium. Performing the folk-type song will be Richard Janelle, Craig Howard and Richard McDonald.

Old-fashioned harmony is in store at the CHS choral variety show tonight and Friday night beginning at 7:30 as the boys quartet sing the praises of Sioux City Sue. Warming up for a song are (from left) Scott Nelson, Roy Davis, Royal Brantley and Ken Cooper.

If music and comedy are your fare, head for the high school auditorium tonight or Friday night at 7:30 to see the Canyon choral variety show.

Music will include "Grand Old Flag," "Over There," "Bridge Over Troubled Water," and "If I Had a Hammer."

For comedy, there are spoofs on a presidential address and television commercials.

Admission is $1.50 for adults and $1 for students.

Son's Birth Is Revealed

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Stevens of Route 1, Happy announce the October 13 birth of a son, Steven Zachary, at Palo Duro Hospital in Canyon.

The baby boy weighed 6 pounds, 3½ ounces and measured 20½ inches at birth. The father is a farmer in the Happy Community and the couple has one other child, Amanda Chea, 2.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. H. Y. Judkins of Odessa and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Stevens of Wayside.

Maybe they are drop-outs from drivers' education or perhaps they're left over from the homecoming parade, but at any rate LaMoyne Davis and Ken Cranfill provide some of the comedy at the CHS variety show tonight and Friday night at 7:30 at the CHS auditorium.

Water Meeting Tonight

By REBA RAEF

THERE WILL BE an important meeting of the Umbarger Community Association, tonight in the school gym at 8:00.

This meeting has been called to see if the residents of this community are interested in a water system for Umbarger. A representative of McMorries and Associates will be present to answer any questions that need to be answered.

There is much to be done, if we are to get this water system. A steering committee will have to be elected and numerous other details will have to be worked out.

So, everyone who is interested in a water system for Umbarger, please attend the meeting and lend your support. We need to act now on this project.

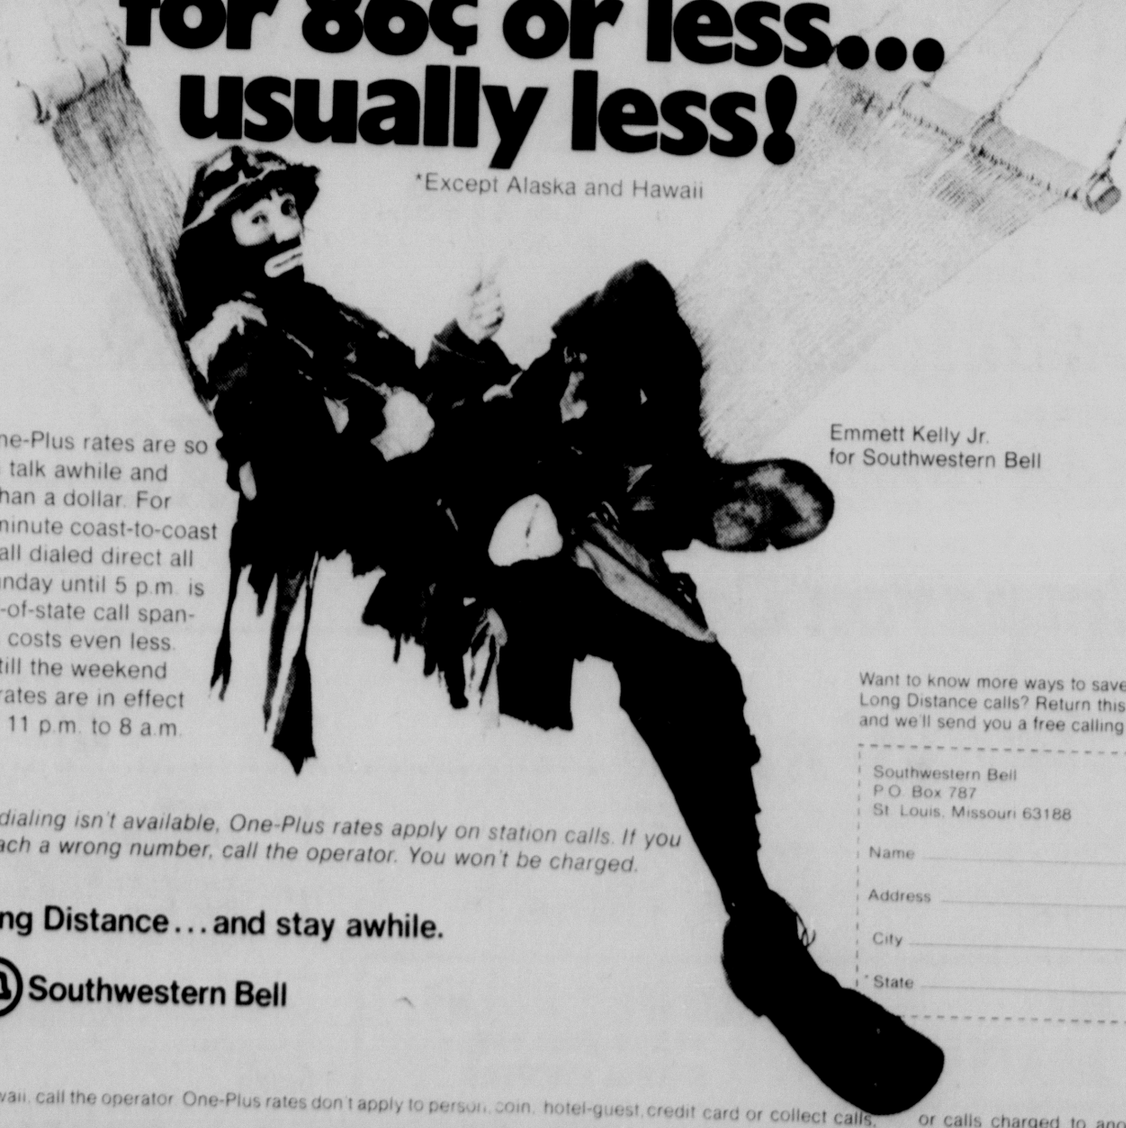
This weekend, call any other state* and talk five minutes for 86¢ or less... usually less!

*Except Alaska and Hawaii



Our weekend One-Plus rates are so low that you can talk awhile and still spend less than a dollar. For instance, a five-minute coast-to-coast Long Distance call dialed direct all Saturday and Sunday until 5 p.m. is only 86¢. An out-of-state call spanning fewer miles costs even less. If you can't wait till the weekend these same low rates are in effect every night from 11 p.m. to 8 a.m.

Chewing Tobacco Potential Of Harm

Studying the effect of a chemical agent found in chewing tobacco on cellular activity has occupied most of the time of West Texas State University biology graduate student Jewell Ginter.

Miss Ginter, along with several other students, has been assisting Associate Professor of biology, Douglas Bingham in his study of the effect of common drugs on DNA, the chemical threads in a cell's nucleus which control the life processes.

Other drugs researched were caffeine, nicotine, aspirin, and the "morning-after pill," or DES. Miss Ginter's research may cause men to think twice before sticking that piece of tobacco between gum and jaw.

"What we are searching for are drug-induced mutations in the DNA chain that can cause damage to future generations," she explains.

The goal of the researchers is to determine whether more research needs to be done in the area of DNA mutations and the possible effects these drugs might have on generations to come.

Chewing tobacco is suspected of containing a potentially harmful chemical that could affect DNA.

"The research takes hours to set up and to complete," Miss Ginter says. "I grind up the tobacco, extract it with water and distill it overnight. I then take the DNA, incubate it with the tobacco extract for three hours and then look for DNA transformations and effects on DNA resistance.

"In this manner, we can discover what is normal or abnormal for the DNA," she explains. It is a painstaking process of re-running tests to check cell reactions.

Another task of equal importance in her work is taking extensive notes on each experiment in order to duplicate the procedure. The notes will be compiled and used in her master's thesis to earn her degree at W.T.

Miss Ginter spends her hours away from the lab in a freshman biology class, teaching as a graduate assistant. She instructs students in the areas of anatomy, reproduction and all other basics concerning biology.

"I hope to use the experience as a background for possibly teaching at a junior college," she states.

Miss Ginter initially wished to enter the medical profession, but found her interest was in animal anatomy. She would also like to work in a research field for a company.

"I think it would be exciting to do research for a brewery or such company," she says.

"I am a competitive person. I'm at ease in a laboratory," Miss Ginter explains. "I feel women shouldn't take themselves so seriously and that we need to get involved in an area where we feel we can prove ourselves capable."

The research is conducted primarily to aid the graduate student complete his program. Professor Bingham feels that the projects are essential to begin work in research.

"The student must do productive projects that have meaning, not just telling the student to go out, dig a hole and fill it up again," he says.

Jewell Ginter feels the opportunities for meaningful research and personal guidance is typical of all WTSU departments. The chance for doing relevant research in larger colleges are not as available as at WT.

Miss Ginter is a Lipscomb graduate and the daughter of Harry Ginter of Canyon.

Constitution Discussion Is Planned

Randall County commissioners will sponsor a discussion of the proposed new Texas Constitution at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Amarillo High School auditorium.

County Judge Woody Pond is making arrangements for speakers to discuss the pros and cons of the proposed document, which voters will consider Nov. 4 at the polls.

A similar meeting will be held in the Canyon county courthouse Oct. 30.

Happy Artist Exhibits Work

Art of Joyce Boston, Happy graduate, will be on display Oct. 26-31 in the formal lounge of the West Texas State University Fine Arts Building.

A reception will be held Oct. 26 from 2 to 5 p.m.

The exhibit will include 20 oil, watercolor and acrylic paintings and 30 pieces of Raku pottery glazed in the ancient firing technique used hundreds of years ago.

Miss Boston has studied under members of the WTSU faculty, John C. Pellew, a watercolorist, and attended the Raku workshop in Galveston with Wayne Higby of Alfred, N.Y. as potter.

Miss Boston's paintings and pottery pieces have been exhibited at the Amarillo Art Center, the 1972 and 1973 WTSU student exhibits, Kerrville Arts and Crafts Fair in 1972, Borger Arts Festival, Amarillo Art Center faculty exhibit, 1973-75 and the Running Water Draw Arts Festival in Plainview in October.

She was selected as the Outstanding Teacher in Art Education for 1973-74 and received the student award of the department.

Teaching experiences include student director of art therapy at the Psychiatric Pavilion in Amarillo, experimental art classes at the Amarillo Art Center in 1973, arts and crafts for under-privileged children in Amarillo in 1973, and the 1975 camp for mentally handicapped citizens at the Amarillo Camp Wigwam Episcopal Conference Center.

She is currently teaching assistant to the WTSU Art Department and working on a masters degree with concentration in oil painting and pottery.

Miss Boston is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Boston of Happy. She resides at 100 20th St., Canyon.

Macromolecules Topic Of Visiting Professor

Northwestern University Professor Emanuel Margoliash will present a talk on "Macromolecules and Biological Evolution" Nov. 3 at West Texas State University.

This lecture is part of the Bicentennial Lecture Program in Science and Society sponsored by Sigma Xi, the scientific research society of North America.

Margoliash, born and educated in the Middle East, has been a research associate for the Nobel Institute in Sweden, head of the protein section for Abbott Labs, and is currently professor of biological sciences and chemistry at Northwestern. His fields are the structure-function relationships of heme proteins, molecular evolution and immunology and energy conservation mechanisms.

Rex Reeves Parent-Teacher Association board members, from left, Mrs. Claude Currie, Mrs. Kip Morgan, Mrs. Henry Lewis and Mrs. Richard Kirkland met recently for planning a PTA spaghetti supper to be held November 6 from 5-8 p.m. at the Rex Reeves Cafeteria. Students from the school will be selling the spaghetti supper tickets beginning Oct. 27. Door prizes are being donated by Canyon merchants.

City Asks For More Information Before Setting Parks Guideline

The parks and recreation board was assigned some more homework Monday night before the city commissioners will choose between two approaches to park development for Canyon.

Parks and Recreation board chairman George Ritter told the commissioners his group could submit either a master plan for comprehensive park and recreation development to cost approximately $500,000 or they could phase the plan over five years with funds requested each year. He asked for guidelines before the board began planning.

"Either of these approaches will amount to some work and we don't want to come back and have it not be what you had in mind at all," Ritter said.

However, the commissioners asked for more specific information on each approach before they committed themselves. Mayor Manly Bryan asked Ritter to provide an outline of the master plan, a cost estimate and the amount of a bond issue, if needed, to fund it. He also asked for an outline and cost estimate on the phase proposal.

Ritter told the board he had already discussed with officials at Panhandle Regional Planning Commission applying for parks funds from the Texas Parks and Wildlife and that PRPC had been encouraging. Canyon can apply for state grants to fund half the project using either the master plan approach or the phase step-by-step plan, Ritter said. The city would have to match the grant with equal funds, he explained.

He added that a phase program might be easier to budget and manage.

"If you go for this master program, you're creating a facility that must be managed and maintained. You're talking about a director and a parks and recreation department," Ritter said.

Already, $10,000 in city funds and $10,000 plus some land from the school are committed for next year, Bryan said. However, Ritter cautioned, school funds and land may not meet qualifications for matching state funds.

"In-kind" contributions, such as donations of land or services may be used, however, to provide the city's portion, Ritter said.

The commissioners agreed to support a bond issue for recreation if the parks and recreation board recommended it.

"Maybe we should let the public vote on it and see what they are willing to back," Ritter said. "We're one of the few cities in the Panhandle that is not emphasizing recreation,"

Commissioner H.R. Fulton agreed, "I think we're falling behind in recreation, especially in view of our rapid increase in population."

Applications for state funds to be granted during the first half of 1976 must be submitted by the first part of December, Ritter told the commissioners. He said he thought the board could provide the commissioners with the information they needed and still be able to submit an application on time.

Water rates for West Texas State University were discussed and a raise of nearly fifteen cents per 1,000 gallons was approved in principal by the commission.

City manager Glen Metcalf outlined negotiations with the university to raise from .2290 cents per 1,000 gallons to .3817 cents per 1,000 gallons the water rates that have been in effect since 1960.

"The cost of producing water has gone up considerably since 1960," Metcalf said. "And over a long period of time, this difference must be made up. This new rate is just a break even cost."

WTSU is the city's largest water user, Metcalf said, using 120,597,000 gallons last year.

To change the rate, the commissioners must repeal or amend the present ordinance, Bryan said. The new ordinance will stipulate that the rate will be reviewed every two years.

Final agreement with the university has not been completed Metcalf said, but he expected arrangements to be worked out with the new rate to be in effect by the first commissioners meeting in November.

Hermas Miller, vice president of financial affairs at WTSU said Tuesday that the university was still in the process of polling other universities to see what they paid for water. He said he expected a final agreement to be reached within the week.

The commissioners also agreed to participate in paving 11th Avenue to connect with Creekmere between 18th and 19th Avenues. The project, in which Harold Root will also bear part of the cost, will be funded by $2,300 from the current city paving budget, Metcalf said.

He recommended the street construction, which, he said, would help alleviate traffic jams at Connor Park. Commissioner Jim Christopher, conceding that the city does have traffic problems there, voiced the motion.

The new street will parallel the existing Creekmere extension. The present street is built entirely on park land and was never officially opened, Metcalf explained. The commissioners discussed closing that street to traffic after the new 42-foot wide street is constructed and using the present area for parking.

Officers of the Canyon Junior High Future Homemakers of America were installed recently at a Mother-Daughter banquet. Taking office for this year are (from the left) Kay Tow, secretary; Lisa Erwin, vice-president; Kayla Hudson, treasurer; Kathy Posey, president and Jackie Skarke, historian.

Workshop Saturday

The West Texas State University Modern Languages Department is sponsoring a workshop designed to aid teachers and students of modern languages.

The workshop will be held Saturday, Oct. 25, from 9 a.m. until noon in Room 216 of the Student Activities Center.

The presentation, "New Trends in Teaching Modern Languages," will be made by the Encyclopedia Britannica Co. Two representatives of the company will demonstrate texts, filmstrips, tapes and cassettes in order to illustrate new methods of teaching languages. Mr. Lou Heckle, director and consultant, will come from Chicago for the demonstration.

Elva Mae Deer, WTSU learning center coordinator, will demonstrate learning activity options which provide for individualization within a systematic plan of instruction.

Wilson Magnavox, Western Plaza, Amarillo, will demonstrate the latest cassettes available.

The workshop is free of charge. Refreshments will be served during the demonstrations. A lunch costing $2.50 will be served in the Activities Center for those wishing to remain.

Scouts Attend Area Campout

Paula Johnston and Diane Hudson of Senior Girl Scout Troop 95 in Canyon were among area scouts involved in a recent senior conference.

The week end program included folk dancing, singing, a self defense speaker, swimming, horseback rides, and skits by troops.

The two Canyon scouts were responsible for conducting the church services at camp on Sunday, Oct. 19.

Patriotism Student Theme

By KAROLYN FARMER

HOW'S THIS FOR a combination: Patriotism, Veteran's Day and the Gene Howe Sixth Graders. All three will be very much in evidence next Monday, October 27th when the sixth grade band and choral group present their first program for this year.

The program will begin at 10:15 a.m. and all parents — in fact, everyone — is invited to attend. J.W. King and Margie Phillips will be leading the band and choir.

On Wednesday, Oct. 29th, the sixth graders will go by bus to Wildorado where they will present their program in the school there.

Of course, all our kids always work hard on any performances they give, and Margie Phillips says they're all very excited about having the chance to perform at Wildorado.

The sixth grade groups are also working on their Fall Concert which will be coming up in just a few weeks.

GERRY WOODWARD IS back with her third grade class after several weeks' absence. Gerry, who broke a couple of bones in her foot playing tennis, is having to maneuver about with the aid of crutches.

On Monday, her first day back to school, Gerry was very ably assisted in her teaching duties by her husband, Wendell. Wendell, who had the day off from his "regular" job, volunteered to help lighten Gerry's load.

Wendell's first job as "assistant" was taking the lunch count for the day — and we hear he managed very well, considering . . .

SYMPATHIES ARE EXTENDED to Lloyd Block, whose brother Jake Block passed away last week. Funeral services were held in Amarillo with graveside services being held in Hobart, Okla.

* * *

THE FIRST AND second grade soccer team, coached by J.T. Jolley, finished their regular season in third place in their league. The boys played two games last week, beating Western Plateau by 1-0, and winning over the South Georgia team by a score of 1-0.

The team will also play in the Kid's Inc. soccer tournament beginning on October 27th.

* * *

THE KINDERGARTEN STUDENTS at Gene Howe have been having lots of exciting experiences the last few weeks. Recently the classes of both Anita Harp and Pam Layman visited a fire station, where they had a grand tour of the facilities and equipment used by the firemen.

The boys and girls were also recently treated to a tour of the offices and facilities of the Amarillo Globe News. Last week Woody VanDyke came to Gene Howe and spoke to the kindergarten children, telling them about his interviews with celebrities which he does for the "Ease" section of the Amarillo newspaper.

On Wednesday of this week the Amarillo Wranglers hockey team visited Gene Howe, bringing with them their suits and equipment to show the children. Members of the team paid a special visit to the kindergarten children before presenting an assembly for all the students of Gene Howe in the school cafeteria.

BLAINE MATHEWS WAS the victim of an unfortunate accident on his motorcycle last week. Blaine received a severe cut on his left leg and was taken to the hospital emergency room where he had to get 18 stitches.

The worst part of the accident, as far as Blaine is concerned, is the fact that he will miss the last football games of the season. He is in Mrs. Green's homeroom at Gene Howe and plays on the 6th-grade football team.

* * *

CHARLES DOWELL'S FIFTH graders all looked especially neat and well-dressed when I visited them last Friday (or at least almost all of them did.)

Friday was picture-taking day at Gene Howe and most of the children had dressed special for the occasion. There were a couple of kids wearing old sweatshirts and patched jeans who had obviously forgotten to inform their mothers about the pictures — and who will also probably get a lecture from same when they take their pictures home.

Mr. Dowell's room is decorated both in a patriotic and a seasonal theme. One big sign on the wall says, "Happy 200th, America." Wild abstract pictures made by the fifth graders of jack-o-lanterns, and witches and other indefinable spooky subjects line another wall.

The atmosphere in Charles Dowell's room is one of informality and cooperation, both with the teacher and among the students themselves.

One group of students was sitting on the floor beside their teacher's desk checking recent test papers. Meanwhile the rest of the class were involved in other projects. Jason Bass and Timmy Lamberson both showed me their pictures of viking ships which related to one of their areas of study.

Dwayne Hollis and Ann Lee were concentrating on the answers to a crossword puzzle, while Christy Muehlhausen worked on her book report.

A display in the center of the room featured a block and tackle, a fixed pulley, movable pulley and other simple machines which are part of the class's science studies for this unit.

Students with upcoming birthdays in Mr. Dowell's room are Jason Bass who will be 11 on Oct. 27th, and Mike Dziedzic, who will celebrate his special day on Nov. 3rd.

There's one poster in Mr. Dowell's room which, I guess, really says it all. It's a picture of three footprints facing two footprints, and is captioned, "I like you, you're different!"

FOOTBALL SCORES FOR this week: The 4th grade boys lost to the Canyon team by a score of 14-0; the 5th grade boys played Paramount and were defeated by 20-18.

The 6th grade team played Eastridge last Sunday in a real heart-breaker. The Gene Howe boys fought a hard drive up the field and were on the two-yard line when time ran out. The score in that game ended up a 0-0.

The football teams will play their last games this Sunday as part of the Kid's Inc. Toy Bowl activities.

DEANNA AND JIM Estes are soon-to-be newcomers to the Gene Howe area. The Estes family is in the process now of moving to their new home on McArthur, where they'll have lots of room to ride and a place to keep the family's horses.

Suzy Estes is in Mrs. Sheila Davis' first grade class at Gene Howe. Jimmy, Jr. is an eighth grader at C.J.H.S.

The Estes are members of Ranger Riders, and this past weekend Jimmy participated in the South Osage Jr. Roping event, where he won first place. Winning this honor allowed Jimmy to add another prize belt buckle to his already large collection.

Both Deanna and Jimmy are natives of Amarillo (and former classmates of mine, as well — we all graduated from Tascosa High School a "few" years ago).

Jim is the owner of Tascosa Electric Company in Amarillo.

BOY SCOUT TROOP 112 held a Court of Honor on Saturday night, Oct. 18th, at Camp Don Harrington. Gene Howe families who shared the pot luck meal were the Don Glenns, the Jim Thomases, the Billy Edwards and the Jim Nashes.

Jay Thomas and Tim Glenn have passed the local troop board for their Eagle requirements.

Shannon Edwards received First Class Rank and Orientating, Pioneering and First Aid Merit Badges.

Tim Nash earned Botany, Computer, Emergency Preparedness and Fish & Wildlife Managements Badges.

Tim Glenn received badges for Computers, Botany and Fish & Wildlife.

Jay Thomas received Environmental Science, Botany, Fish & Wildlife Management and Emergency Preparedness Badges.

BECKY AND DAVID Cochran enjoyed a couple of days away from it all last weekend. John, Jenny and four-week-old Jeremy stayed with their grandparents, who had volunteered to babysit.

The Cochrans viewed the colorful aspens, saw several deer and visited a ghost town while at Red River. Also included in their trip was a drive over to Taos to take in some of the art exhibits there.

Becky said that the mountains were really beautiful, with some snow already on the peaks.

* * *

JOHN COCHRAN, THE son of Becky and David, was recently the center of attention in his room at school. John, who is in Mrs. Sheila Davis' first grade class, had been begging his mother to let him take his Teddy Bear to school for Show and Tell. Because of a certain problem involved, Becky continually refused her son's pleas.

Finally John persuaded his teacher, Mrs. Davis, to write a note to his mother giving her permission for John to bring "Teddy" to class.

The next day, much to everyone's surprise — and especially Sheila Davis' — John walked into the classroom with his five-foot-tall stuffed bear.

JOHNNY AND PHYLLIS Hicks spent several days last week in San Antonio attending meetings of the Texas Swim Association. Johnny is president of the Amarillo Aquatic Swim Club.

While in San Antonio the Hicks enjoyed a boat trip on the river, a visit to the Tower and the Alamo, as well as eating out at several of the fantastic restaurants in the city.

Phyllis said they also took a tour of the city and, since Johnny is in the building business, enjoyed viewing the different types of architecture.

The Hicks also drove to San Marcos and Austin where they visited Phyllis' brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Mark SoRelle.

* * *

JOHN HICKS CELEBRATED his 9th birthday on Oct. 15th. Joining John for a swimming party at the Amarillo Town Club were Jay Edwards, Delbert Hollis, Chris Seth, Don Meier, Brett Copeland and Brent Zachary.

* * *

SHANNON EDWARDS CELEBRATED his 12th birthday on Friday, Oct. 17th. A few friends gathered for hot dogs and the trimmings at the Edwards' home.

Then all went to Canyon to see the Eagles beat the Dumas Demons. Following the game, the whole crew came back to the Edwards' home to eat again (and again, and again).

Bumper pool, microscope lab experiments (with Matt Malson providing the blood and Kent Newcombe providing the tooth plaque), football games after dark, "Jaws" and ghost stories, etc., kept the boys entertained into the "wee hours" of Saturday morning.

Those who participated in the celebration were Matt Malson, Steve Sellers, Kent Newcombe, Ray Tyler, Tim and Steve Stokes, and, of course, Shannon, Bill and Sarah Edwards.

THE "LAMOUNT STREET Project" is underway and another meeting is planned by the committee on Nov. 4th. Serving on the PTA-sponsored committee are Dr. Nolan Clark, Chairman, Lloyd Block, Larry Cunningham, Harold Knight, Conny Martin and Jan Meier.

The men on the committee are in the process of circulating petitions to the landowners along Lamount Street in an effort to have the street widened, along with the addition of curbs, gutters and sidewalks.

It is hoped that the matter can be taken before the Amarillo City Commission sometime in November.

All of these men have and will be giving a lot of their time to this project which will really benefit our school and our entire community — and they really deserve to be commended.

Jody White, 6-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph White of Canyon, tries on a bike which she won in a drawing sponsored by Lane's TV and Appliance this past week. She is shown with Tom Lane of the sponsoring firm.

Births Are Told

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Joseph Donohoo of 321 Hickory, Amarillo announce the birth of a son, Joseph Todd, on October 14 at Palo Duro Hospital in Canyon.

The baby boy weighed 6 pounds, 3 ounces and measured 20½ inches at birth. He has an older sister, Samantha Anne, 14 months.

The father is employed with United Plumbing and grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Robertson of Amarillo and W. C. Donohoo of Alpine.

Mr. and Mrs. John Elbert Hodges of Rt. 1, Box 580 Amarillo announce the October 17 birth of a daughter, Lisa Marie, who weighed 6 pounds, 7¾ ounces at birth in Palo Duro Hospital and measured 19 inches in length.

The father is a freezer operator with Borden Ice Cream and the couple has one other daughter, Stephanie Ann, 2½ years old.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ervin J. Podzemny of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. Louis O. Hodges of Canyon.

Judy McNeill, macrame demonstrator, holds a wall hanging of macrame knots as workshop participant, Frankie McCrady, learns to get the proper knotting for similar hangings and planters.

Creative Craft Event Held

Creative Crafts were the order of the day on Monday as a good number of local women saw macrame knots tied, tried their hand at making cloth flowers, learned the stitches for needlepoint and crewel embroidery, did a dab of liquid embroidery, and used glue patchwork on plaster and ceramic for making Fun Podge gift items.

The workshop was sponsored by the Randall County Family Living Committee and the Home Demonstration Council's Recreation Committee and was open to the public at no charge from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. at the Farm Bureau Building.

Demonstrators for the workshop were Ruth Wilcox of Merribee Company who demonstrated needlepoint, crewel embroidery and latchhook. Liquid embroidery demonstrators were Marcie Grabber and Lucille Robinson.

Armstrong County's county extension agent, Ruth Hughey, was the demonstrator for Fun Podge using both ceramic and plaster figurines for applying the gingham patches.

Judy McNeill demonstrated proper knots and variations used in making macrame hangers for plants and decorative items and the Randall County Extension Agent, Becky Hall, was demonstrating the techniques for making cloth floral bouquets.

Mrs. Prichard's Rites Are Held

Funeral services for former Canyon resident, Mrs. Tommye E. Prichard, were held October 17 at N.S. Griggs and Sons Pioneer Chapel with Rev. Clifford Trotter officiating and assistance from Rev. Lester Hill of Polk Street United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Prichard died October 15. She was born in Ben Franklin and came to Canyon at the age of nine with her mother, brothers and sisters. She moved to Amarillo from Canyon in 1932.

Burial was at Dreamland Cemetery, Canyon.

She is survived by her widower, E.L. Prichard; a daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Keaton of Akron, Ohio; a brother, Dewey M. Foster of Canyon; and five grandchildren.

Bernard Baby Born In City

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Lee Bernard of City Rt. 3, Canyon announce the October 14 birth of a daughter, Rhonda Kay, at Palo Duro Hospital in Canyon. The baby girl weighed 6 pounds, 11½ ounces and measured 19¼ inches at birth.

She has an older sister, Deborah Faeann, 4, and the father is a truck driver with Geronimo Elevator Company.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bernard, all of Canyon.

Americanism Is Topic

Sue Hite Club of Canyon meets Monday, Oct. 27, at the for an Americanism Program on "Woman's Role in American Freedom" to be presented by Hazel Walsh and Lee Reeves.

Birthday Time Here For Siesta Park Residents

BY DORIS MCKEE

GUESS I HAD better start with first things first, so I begin with an apology to Christy Hoffman. Seems her birthday is October 13th and not as I stated Sunday October 12th in last week's column.

While I am on the subject of birthdays we want to wish Alice Pope a belated Happy Birthday. She celebrated on October 16th. She hasn't ever confided her age to me, but somehow I'm sure she is past sixteen.

PAT REED CALLED last week and we had a nice chat.

Seems she and Tex took in one of the dinners at the schools recently. The time they went it was at Amarillo High.

Pat said the food was good and the price was reasonable. Also she and Tex may become real Hockey fans. They took in their first game on Friday night.

Also talked to Carolyn Bays recently and learned that she, Larry, Mickey, Cecilia and Carolyn's mother, Mrs. Rich, have been enjoying the Hockey games. Carolyn said it's a lot like football, in the sense that it really gets in your blood.

* * *

WE WERE VERY sorry to hear that Betty and Earl Hunt's son-in-law, Stan Hair was hurt in a wreck recently. It was not too serious and we wish him a speedy recovery.

* * *

GUESS SOME OF you have noticed that the double-wide with the bubble windows is not at 142 Siesta anymore. Jess and Evelyn Tolbirt and family moved to Houston last week. We wish them the best.

* * *

NEW HERE IN Ownersville are Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Huff and family. They have purchased the lot at 101 La Fiesta. We certainly hope you'll like it here with us.

Buffs Have Open Date

West Texas State University's Buffaloes will not play this weekend.

Their next game is against Eastern Louisiana at Monroe, La.

WAS TALKING TO my neighbor on the south, Oleta Potter a few days back and learned that she and Scott want to sell their place. Oleta said that mostly due to their health they want to move into town.

Young Farmers Elect Gruner

Bob Gruner was elected president of the Randall County Young Farmers last week in a local meeting.

New vice president is Red Doyle. Secretary is Roger Gist, treasurer is Mike Hinders and reporter is David Moore.

George Cox will be program committee chairman.

Lee Moore was guest speaker at the meeting and talked on how to start a Young Farmers program.

RUBY HUDDLESTON HAD overnight guests on Saturday. Her sister, Inez Jackson of Covina, Calif. along with a couple of good friends Fannie and Gordie were passing through on their way to Philadelphia, Penn. on an antique shopping spree.

Ruby said they plan to see her on their return trip in a couple of weeks. On Sunday Ruby went on an outing to Lake Meredith with Jack and Vera.

Canyon MIL Club Meets

The Canyon Mother-In-Law Club met Oct. 16 in the home of Mrs. Fred Marshall, 518 11th Ave.

Fourteen members answered roll call with funny jokes or interesting articles.

The club prayer and devotional was led by Mrs. Ira J. Davis with Mrs. Alfred Hamblen at the piano. Mrs. Clay Dawson led songs. Mrs. Hamblen, Mrs. Dawson, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Jesse Vaughn presented readings.

The November club meeting will be a Thanksgiving luncheon at 12:30 p.m. Nov. 20 at the home of Mrs. J.G. Ford, 1910 6th Ave. Members are asked to bring a covered dish salad, vegetable or dessert and turkey and dressing will be provided by the club.

Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Gladys Blair will host the next meeting.

Members present at last week's meeting were Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Blair, Mrs. Ford, Mrs. Davis, Cordelia White, Eva Mickey, Sybil Dunn, Eutha Hamblen, Beulah Seay, Mrs. Vaughn, Jean Robinson, and Mrs. Dawson, Mrs. R.T. Furlow joined the club.

CALLED JEAN MAYFIELD to see how things were going. She and her mother, Earlene Dickerson were very busy canning pumpkin. Jean did have time to tell me that she and Phil had overnight guests last week. Mel and Dot Allen formerly of Canyon, now of Sulphur, Okla. were here for a short visit.

Also Jean said she and Phil were really enjoying the couples team they bowl on every Monday night. Seems they are in first place and hope to stay there.

Jean also said the women's league she bowls for on Tuesday is in first place. This team is sponsored by Micro Chemical Company of Canyon. Jean said they will surely miss Evelyn Tolbirt who moved last week.

CHARLES AND CLARICE Heglin and their friend, Pauline Fowler of Stratford, Conn., spent a week in Denver recently. They visited Dean and Doris Heglin. Charles also went elk hunting, but didn't have any luck this time.

* * *

JAMES, LINDA AND Christi Grumke had weekend guests last weekend. Linda's folks, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Morris, Jr. of Childress came to visit.

* * *

ALICE POPE ENTERED St. Anthony's Hospital on Monday. She had surgery on Tuesday morning. We wish her a speedy recovery. While Alice is laid up her mother, Mrs. I.L. Harris, of Gruver will be here to help out.

* * *

DUSTY WEST WAS a weekend guest in the Jon Hoffman home. Dusty's parents, Dale and Pearl, were in Oklahoma City where Dale's brother was undergoing surgery.

* * *

ROSCOE, SHARON AND Brent Shipley decided not to move to Roswell, N.M. They just couldn't make the change when it came right down to it. Oh well, we're still happy to have them in Siesta.

* * *

ON SUNDAY'S FOOTBALL report. I watched a little of the 5th grade game at Gene Howe and it started with a bang.

Mickey Bays plays on this team and even though they played hard the final score was Gene Howe 18 and Paramount 20.

The 6th grade boys journeyed to Eastridge. They played great ball but the game ended in a 0 to 0 finish. Tod McKee said he was very disappointed that as the game ended we were so close to a touchdown.

Toy Bowl games are upcoming next Sunday.

HAVE A FEW new residents in the park. Mr. and Mrs. Tim Lease and family at 112 Siesta Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Johnson and family at 242 Loma Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Ellick Gibson and family at 202 Loma Linda and Richard Butts, a student at West Texas.

Welcome to each and everyone of you. Hope you'll be happy here at Siesta.

TIME TO SIGN off for this week but will be back next week — all's willing and the creek don't rise — so Keep on Reading.

Thought for this week, "Don't make hasty decisions, they're apt to cost you more than you have."

A reminder, Lamount Drive Baptist Bus still runs every Sunday morning at 9:10 a.m. Pickup at recreation building.

See ya.
